16th Annual Toronto Psychopharmacology Update Day Saturday, March 19, 2016

The Toronto Psychopharmacology Update Day is Canada's premier psychopharmacology conference, designed for dynamic clinicians. Speakers come from a variety of key University of Toronto teaching hospitals including: Toronto Western Hospital (UHN), Toronto General Hospital (UHN), the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health, Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre, and Ontario Shores. The goal of the conference is to provide clinicians with an update on treatment for mental disorders while also providing insight into mechanisms of action of treatment. This year, we also include Dr. Srijan Sen from the University of Michigan speaking on an innovative study on stress and depression involving over 4000 physicians entering residency. Both morning and afternoon sessions feature a blend of plenary talks and interactive workshops. For a second year—we are partnering with the 4th Annual Frederick W. Thompson Anxiety Disorders Centre Conference (Friday March 18, 2016). The conferences, designed to complement each other, are held on consecutive days at the Hyatt Regency hotel in downtown Toronto. Each conference costs $295, but register for both for $450, a savings of $140!

The Toronto Psychopharmacology Update Day, now in its 16th year, attracts psychiatrists, family physicians, pharmacists, and nurse practitioners from across Canada. Founded and Chaired by Dr. Sagar Parikh, the conference is sponsored by CANMAT and features a renewed focus on evidence-based medicine, skill-based workshops, and understanding underlying mechanisms of treatment.
